Net expense ratio for the fund is 0.60%. This data represents past performance, which does not guarantee future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. To obtain performance through the most recent month, email invest@upholdings.com or call 650-669-9595.

Prior to the commencement of the Fund's operations on December 30, 2020, the Fund operated as the Predecessor Fund, a private fund with the same fee schedule and an inception date of March 1, 2019. The Fund's objectives, policies, guidelines, and restrictions are, in all material respects, equivalent to those of the Predecessor Fund, which was created for reasons unrelated to the establishment of a performance record. As part of the Predecessor Fund reorganization into the Fund, the Fund assumed the NAV and performance history of the Predecessor Fund. The Predecessor Fund was not registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "1940 Act") and did not have a Market Price.

*Returns are average annualized total returns, except those for periods of less than one year, which are cumulative. *Market Price returns began on December 30, 2020, the first day the Fund had a Market Price. The Predecessor Fund was the sole account managed by Upholdings prior to the reorganization. The S&P 500 Index is an unmanaged index of 500 stocks, which is representative of the U.S. stock market in general. It is not possible to invest directly in an index.*

Share prices are based on closing market prices. Shares are bought and sold at market price, not net asset value (NAV). Market price returns are based upon the closing composite market price and do not represent the returns you would receive if you traded shares at other times. NAV: the dollar value of a single share, based on the value of the underlying assets of the fund minus its liabilities, divided by the number of shares outstanding. Calculated at the end of each business day.

Investment Results

The challenging market conditions detailed in our mid quarter update persisted throughout the rest of the 2nd quarter. This market selloff created an opportunity to position into even stronger companies which were previously too expensive for investment.

Following the Fundamentals

Netflix is the worst performing stock in the S&P 500 this year. After years of huge and sustained growth, their leadership acknowledged that the number of potential subscribers may be vastly lower than their previous estimates of 800 million. In order to continue adding households, the company must now also offer a free, ad-supported version.

Estimates for new Netflix subscribers have fallen 70%, and so has the stock. For now, we remain investors as this team has maneuvered difficult transitions before. But in this market, stock prices of other companies have also fallen, without a matching deterioration in underlying conditions.

Adyen is a high growth payments company that enables the largest businesses in the world to process a growing number of complex payment methods. Their share price is down 44% this year, in spite of the company remaining on track to grow free cash flow 40%. The company is early in its growth, and has very strong lock-in with its customers who rarely, if ever, replace their payments processing software. Adyen will help process trillions of payments in the years ahead, and we believe its share price is uniquely attractive right now.

Positions Update

Our biggest purchases in the quarter were ServiceNow, Autodesk, and Datadog. Our biggest reductions were Tencent, Spotify, and Microsoft.

Social Impact

This quarter, we supported Sandy Hook Promise, an organization dedicated to sharing preventive measures against youth gun violence.

Thanks, Robert.

IMPORTANT RISKS: There is no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective. An investment in the Fund involves risk, including those described here. Non-Diversification Risk. Because the Fund is non-diversified, it may be more sensitive to economic, business, political or other changes affecting individual issuers or investments than a diversified fund. Management Risk. The Fund is actively-managed and may not meet its investment objectives based on the Adviser's or Upholding's success or failure in implementing the Fund's investment strategy. Equity Investing Risk. An investment in the Fund involves risks similar to those of investing in any fund holding equity securities, such as market fluctuations, changes in interest rates and perceived trends in stock prices. Foreign Investment Risk: The Fund invests in foreign securities which involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and differences in accounting methods. These risks are greater in emerging markets.

Cash and Cash Equivalents Risk. Holding cash or cash equivalents rather than securities or other instruments in which the Fund primarily invests may cause the Fund to experience potentially lower returns than the Fund's benchmark or other funds that remain fully invested. Illiquid Securities Risk. The portfolio managers may not be able to sell illiquid securities at the price it would like or may have to sell them at a loss. Securities of non-U.S. issuers in particular, are subject to greater liquidity risk. ETF Risk. Shares of any ETF are bought and sold at market price and may trade at a discount or premium to NAV. Shares are not individually redeemed from the Fund, and brokerage commissions will reduce returns.
